

Faubus Begins His Trip

Will Consult Ike Tomorrow About Stand On School Crisis in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus took off today for a history-making conference with President Eisenhower on the aggravated federal-state integration problem at Little Rock.

"I feel the same—hopeful," Faubus said. "I'm just going to see the President and I can't discuss the conference in advance, but I'm optimistic."

The governor, accompanied by Arnold Sikes, his executive assistant, and Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) left in a small two-engine Aero-Commander belonging to the Brown Aero Corp. of Dallas, Tex.

This is the same type plane the President uses sometimes in flying from Washington to his farm in Gettysburg.

W. C. White Jr., vice president and general manager of the Brown Corp., was the pilot, and Ed Moore, pilot for the corporation, was in the copilot's seat.

White said he did not know how long the flight would take, because of uncertain weather, nor where the plane might land.

Faubus also said he did not know where he would spend the night. He said no arrangements had been made.

Faubus said he might have to land somewhere "in the Newport area" and go to the President's vacation headquarters by plane or automobile tomorrow morning.

He smilingly turned aside all questions about the moves he will make in conference with the President.

Asked whether he was annoyed by the "throw in the sponge" comment by a television commentator yesterday, Faubus said:

"No, I wasn't annoyed—particularly after the President and his aide made the statements denying it."

Did he consider that the expression might have weakened the possibility of a solution of the problem?

"I don't think so," Faubus said, "particularly after they said what they did up there."

He was asked whether tomorrow's meeting might be the first of a series—or whether there might be other conferences on other government levels in the attempt to solve the integration controversy in Little Rock.

"I couldn't say," Faubus replied. "It's a possibility there might be others."

Churchill Art Show Arranged For US, Canada

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—About 30 paintings by Winston Churchill will be put on exhibit in six to eight cities in the United States and Canada during the winter.

Joyce C. Hall, Kansas City greeting card manufacturer, announced the plan yesterday after receiving a confirming cable from Churchill.

The Smithsonian Institution in Washington is making arrangements for the tour. It will start at the William Rockhill Nelson Gallery in Kansas City early in February and go then to Washington, Sir Harold Caccia, British ambassador to the United States, will sponsor the openings in Kansas City and Washington. President Eisenhower also is listed as a sponsor.

Hall and Dr. Franklin Murphy, chancellor of the University of Kansas, persuaded Sir Winston to participate in the project when they visited him in June. He will select the paintings with the idea of showing how his technique developed over a 40-year span.

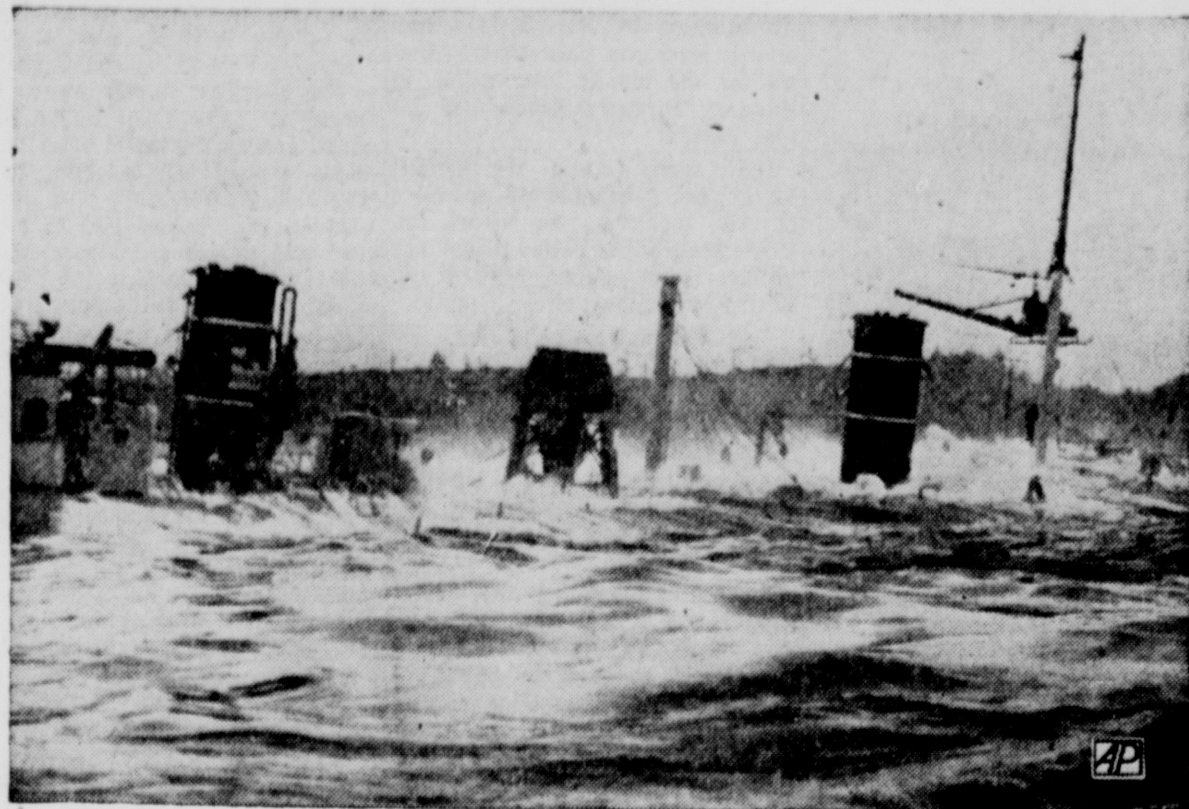

"He speculated out loud whether his painting merited such attention," Dr. Murphy said. "It is fair to say we told him we thought people would come to see them. In fact, we emphasized that point rather strongly."

Moisture Moves Out Of Missouri Picture

Otherwise the forecast is for partly cloudy with little temperature change tonight and Saturday.

Hoffa Asks Group to Act On Inquiry

Wants Committee To Renew Probe Now Or Wait Till Oct. 10

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa today asked the Senate Rackets Committee to either renew right away its public probe of his labor career or to delay it until after the coming Teamsters convention.

Hoffa, Midwest boss of the giant Teamsters Union, still is the front-running candidate to succeed Dave Beck as Teamsters president at the Sept. 30 Miami convention despite earlier disclosures before the Senate group.

The 44-year old Hoffa has been charged before the committee with accepting money loans from employers and with associating with New York labor racketeer Johnny Dio.

George Fitzgerald, Hoffa's lawyer, wrote to Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) and other committee members asking that Hoffa either be recalled early next week or not until Oct. 10.

Fitzgerald said Hoffa would be busy constantly with convention business from Sept. 18 to Oct. 10. He noted also that Hoffa must appear in New York Sept. 23 to answer to a wiretapping conspiracy indictment.

Hoffa's request apparently was prompted by comments made by committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy in Detroit earlier this week. Kennedy said that a hunt with a dozen committee staff investigators in Hoffa's home town had been worthwhile and had produced fresh evidence. He added he felt the material warranted new hearings prior to the Teamsters convention.

McClellan and Kennedy are expected to decide this weekend when to schedule a renewed probe.

Hoffa, meanwhile, has denied in Chicago reports he might bow out of the race for the union presidency to avoid an almost certain ouster of the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO. The union faces charges based partly on disclosures concerning Hoffa, that it is corruptly dominated.

Hoffa said he was in the contest "to the end."

Settles One Question

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Floyd McDevitt says she isn't sure which came first—the chicken or the egg—but she's darned sure which went first.

"Then it was the chickens," she said. "A day later they took 12 New Hampshire hens."

FBI Reports Information On Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department said today it has information of "possible significance" concerning the dynamiting of the Hattie Cotton School in Nashville, Tenn., and is turning it over to local authorities.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said this is in line with the Justice Department's desire to be of all possible assistance to local authorities regarding violations of law.

Brownell said the information is being turned over to Nashville authorities by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

This was the first formal announcement that FBI agents had taken a hand in investigating the blast Tuesday.

The explosion wrecked the half-million-dollar school building. The dynamiting followed the admission of a Negro child to the first grade of the school.

Brownell's brief announcement gave no indication as to the nature of the information developed by the FBI.

Young Men Set Sail In 36-Foot Schooner

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five young men sailed toward the South Pacific yesterday on a 36-foot schooner to do what "we have always wanted."

The five, from 26 to 33, tossed aside jobs and claim to leave no girls—not even to write to. They are going "just to get away."

Crew members are Reg Blake, Fred Shepperd, Herbert Knapp, John Lewis and Bob Drude. Blake and Shepperd, who spent two years refitting the green and white craft, sailed her from British Columbia to San Francisco with the help of Herbert and two others.

The five plan to follow a 2,800-mile course to the Marquesas Islands and then leisurely go on to Tahiti, Fiji and Australia.

Blames Spontaneous Combustion for Fire

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Spontaneous combustion was blamed for a fire which early yesterday did more than $50,000 damage at the Rocky Flats atomic plant north of Golden.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said no one was injured and there was no radioactive contamination of personnel. He added that radioactive materials were located in the building.

Chiefs of Staff Have Full Day Inspecting Bases and Flying

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff had quite a day yesterday. They inspected the Strategic Air Command at Offutt Air Force Base in Omaha, took a ride to Colorado Springs in a KC135 jet tanker, took turns piloting the jet on the flight, toured the Air Force Academy site here and inspected the North American Air Defense Command.

During the jet tanker flight from Omaha, the Joint Chiefs viewed the refueling of a B47 bomber in flight. It was the first time they had traveled together on a jet.

Until yesterday, the North was known as the Continental Air Force. The change in names resulted from the integration of all U.S. and Canadian air defense forces into a single operational command with headquarters in Colorado Springs.

American Returns From Unauthorized Visit to Red China

LONDON (AP)—Shelby Tucker, 22, returned yesterday from an unauthorized visit to Communist China and left his passport at the U. S. Embassy.

The Oxford law student from Pass Christian, Miss., slipped into London 13 days after Red China kicked him out for refusing to show his passport. He went to China with 41 other young Americans in defiance of a State Department ban.

His passport will be stamped valid only for a return to the United States but he will be allowed to continue his studies at Oxford.

Police Receive Order

Besides the Usual Limits, It Forbids Boycotts by Pupils

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—City officials armed Nashville police today, with copies of a broad federal court order prohibiting any interference with school integration here.

Besides banning acts intended to keep Negroes out of racially mixed first-grade classes, the order specifically forbids boycotts of the newly integrated grammar schools. Six schools end their first week of integration today, after two days of surface calm.

U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller issued the temporary order yesterday at the request of city and school officials. They asked for it to bolster a police get-tough policy in dealing with racial flareups since 15 Negroes reported for classes along with about 2,000 white first-graders Monday. Miller ordered the integration.

The order is similar to one under which Northern segregationist John Kasper was twice convicted in last year's integration disturbances at Clinton, Tenn.

It also names Kasper, the Rev. John McCulloch, itinerant preacher from Albuquerque, N.M.; and 10 Nashville area residents as defendants. In addition, it strikes out broadly at "other persons now or hereafter in active concert with them"—that is, others who conspire with the named defendants.

Judge Miller has ordered a hearing Monday on whether to replace the stop-gap restrainer with a temporary injunction.

Mayor Ben West said city policemen will read the order to any crowds gathering "in front of or near the schools."

Kasper, released on $600 appeal bond from the city workhouse yesterday, promptly landed in Davidson County Jail, where he is held without bond on a state charge of inciting to riot, based on his anti-integration speeches here. He was sent to the workhouse after failing to pay a $200 fine on disorderly conduct, vagrancy and loitering charges.

"A black cat crossed my path," said Norma Bruders, 13, and Richard Jaros, 14, explained "It's Friday the 13th," after a collision between the school bus on which they were passengers and a truck at 16th and State Fair Blvd., about 8 a.m. Friday.

Seventeen Smith-Cotton High School students were on the bus driven by Mrs. Rosanna Earlene Sanders, 31, Smithton, none believed seriously injured. Two were slightly hurt.

Miss Bruders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bruders, 2437 West Second Street Terrace, received bruises and was admitted to the Bothwell Hospital for observation. Her condition is not believed serious.

The girl, according to Mrs. Sanders, stood up at just about the time the accident seemed it could not be avoided. She was thrown to the floor and at the bottom of the front door, with Mrs. Sanders being thrown from the driver's seat on top of her.

Richard Jaros, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Jaros, 2401 West Second Street Terrace, received a bruised right shoulder and side when thrown against a seat.

They were taken to Bothwell Hospital, along with Mrs. Sanders, in the McLaughlin ambulance. Mrs. Sanders was not injured, but stayed with the two until they had received medical treatment.

Dr. Robert Stewart, radiologist, said that neither had suffered any fractures after he read the X-ray pictures which were taken.

The accident occurred at the time the Pittsburgh Corning Glass Co. plant was changing shifts. Employees who were driving past the scene stopped and offered their assistance. Several picked up the students who appeared not hurt and took them on to Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Sanders, who has a private route and owns the school bus, operates the bus on a pickup and delivery basis between the parents and herself. The bus is not owned or operated by the school. However, it is designated as a school bus and is operated under the state law regarding school buses.

Students Defy Police, Firemen In Raytown Rally

RAYTOWN, Mo. (AP)—Swarms of squealing high school students took over the main intersection here last night and defied efforts of police and firemen to clear the streets.

It started as a football pep rally, became a snake dance into the business district, then turned into an initiation of freshmen.

The freshmen were decorated with shoe polish, mustard, catsup, pressurized shaving cream and lipstick.

"They went completely nutty," remarked Edward Smith, a fireman.

Police estimated there were 1,500 youngsters. Ted M. Chitwood, Raytown coach, guessed about 600.

When police tried to clear a path for traffic they were driven off by the students.

Firemen were called. They advanced with a truck, spraying water from a hose, but were battered by bottles of shoe polish and cans of shaving cream. They retreated, too.

Wants Restrictions On Diplomats Removed

MOSCOW (AP)—Britain has proposed that she and Russia drop restrictions on travel of each other's diplomats. But if the Soviet government doesn't relax travel bans on Britons, Britain warned she may tighten up on Russian diplomats.

Pair Emerge From Risky Trip in Gorge

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Jim Lindsey and Lou Bettis came out of the upper Rio Grande gorge alive last night after a death-defying vacation trip down its churning rapids.

"It took up five days for a trip we planned to do in three because of about 10 miles of almost constant waterfall," Lindsey said.

"We had plenty of trouble. That's about all we did have. We ran into rocks. The boats got away from us. When they got away, the lines attached to them would get caught in the rocks and we were able to get them back downstream."

Lindsey and Bettis are believed to be the first ever to negotiate the 45 miles of rapids from the Colorado line to a point near Taos, N.M.

For a time earlier in the week it was feared they had perished. Searchers could not spot them from the air for more than a day but they later made contact with fishermen and hikers who had gone into the wilds of the gorge and climbed out to report.

Lindsey is 32 and Bettis is 29. They are electronic engineers for Goodyear Aircraft Corp. at Phoenix. They got interested in river running after watching a television program. Since then they've braved the rapids on four rivers in Utah and Arizona.

Their "boats" were single planks lashed to inner tubes from truck and automobile tires.

Lindsey estimated the water was no more than 10 degrees above freezing. They were on the river from 7:30 a.m. to about 5:30 p.m. each day, with about 15 minutes out for lunch — and most of that time they were floundering in the water. They carried sleeping gear and food in waterproof bags on the rafts.

City Has No Hero

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—This Gulf Coast city of more than 100,000 has a problem: no heroes. The Beaumont Chamber of commerce needs a hero of World War I or II or the Korean conflict. It wants to name the local U.S. Army Reserve armory for him. Stories were published in the local papers. Letters were sent to civic and service clubs. But still no hero.

'I Was All Alone'

Young Negro Student Tells Why She Is Leaving School

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—"I got tense when I walked in the corridors because then I was all alone and I never knew what they were going to do."

"They never came in front of me. They always stood in back. If I turned around, there were 20 or 30 of them. How could I say which one did something?"

That, in a few sentences, is why Dorothy Counts, 15-year-old Negro, says she isn't going back to all-white Harding High School.

Her father, the Rev. H. L. Counts, an instructor in religion at Johnson C. Smith University here, made the withdrawal announcement last night.

"It is with compassion for our native land and love for our daughter that we withdraw her as a student at Harding High School," he said.

"As long as we felt that she could be protected from bodily injury and insults within the school walls and upon the school premises, we were willing to grant her desire to study at Harding."

"Contrary to this optimistic view, her experiences at school Wednesday disillusioned our faith and left us no alternative."

Dorothy started classes last week at previously all-white Harding, with 1,160 white students.

Three other young Negroes in three other white schools here have met with little difficulty. But Dorothy was greeted on the first day by spitting and stone-throwing.

Wednesday, boys threw a sharp-cornered piece of tin at her head, she said, and then smashed in the rear window of her family's car as her brother waited to take her home for lunch.

"I was afraid then for the first time," Dorothy said yesterday as she remained at home. "I didn't mind the names. But I was afraid what they might do to me physically."

"I'd just die if they ever hurt my parents. I just didn't know what they might do. Somebody kicked me Monday. I didn't know what these little things might lead to."

"But I just don't want them to think they've won a victory. I think it will be easier for other Negroes to go to Harding someday because I did go... even if I didn't go back."

Beck Gives Innocent Plea Before Judge

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Dave Beck has told a federal judge what he hopes he can convince a jury next spring—that he is innocent of a charge of defrauding the government of $184,000 in income taxes.

The slightly nervous Teamsters Union president entered the formal plea yesterday before Federal Judge George Boldt. In it he denied charges recently returned in a seven-count indictment by a federal grand jury concerning his income for the years 1951-53.

With him in court and also entering innocent pleas to charges they conspired to aid Beck in the evasion were his son Dave Jr., a union organizer and two other Teamster officials, Fred Verschuere Sr., Teamsters Union auditor, and Norman J. Gessert, a cousin of Mrs. Beck Sr. and a union organizer.

The four were granted permission to attend the Teamsters' international convention in Miami Sept. 30 when Beck's successor will be named.

Beck startled newsmen when asked who would be the next president of the giant union by replying: "I certainly know, but I'm not going to say."

It is expected Beck will face trial, with the others, in the spring session of the court.

King Saud Urges US To Use Moderation In Policy on Syria

NEW YORK (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia today was reported to have sent a message to President Eisenhower urging moderation in U.S. policy toward Syria.

The New York Times and the New York Herald-Tribune reported in Washington dispatches that a message from Saud warned against any U.S. action that might push Syria further toward the Soviet orbit.

Quoting diplomatic sources, the reports said Saud told the President that U.S. concern over developments in Syria was exaggerated.

They also said the message from Saud was believed to be a factor in the more temperate line on Syrian developments taken by Secretary of State Dulles in his news conference comments this week.

Dulles said Tuesday he believed the Syrian crisis would be resolved without war.

Says Newspaper Ads Top Other Mediums

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Richard L. Jones Jr., board chairman of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. Bureau of Advertising, says advertisers spent more on newspaper advertising last year than on radio, television, magazines and outdoor advertising combined.

Jones, president of the Newspaper Printing Corp. at Tulsa, Okla., told the board's meeting yesterday that more than $2,335,000,000 was spent on newspaper advertising last year.

"This is a striking vote of confidence in the matchless efficiency of newspapers as an advertising medium by the advertisers themselves," he said.

Quits Muscle Flexing To Study for Ministry

HONOLULU (AP)—Richard Franklin Du Boise, Mr. U.S.A. of 1957, said last night he has quit the muscle flexing business to study for the ministry.

The 24-year-old New Yorker said he thinks the publicity gained from his build — 30-inch waist and 52-inch chest — will help him win converts and attract audiences to revival meetings.

He said he plans to become a minister in the International Christian Church, organized here in 1943.

Thomas Erwin Moore Dies in Gas Chamber For Slaying of Wife

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Composed and stolid to the end, Thomas Erwin Moore was executed in the gas chamber early today for slaying his wife.

The muscular, 42-year-old one-time farmer made no public statement before he entered the chamber at 12:01 a. m. Warden E. V. Nash released the gas and Moore was dead by 12:09 a. m.

Moore was convicted of shooting his second wife May 5, 1955, Kansas City in the presence of her 16-year-old daughter by a former marriage.

The girl, Wanda, and her brother, Gene, testified in court that Moore then lay down on the floor and tried to shoot himself. He suffered only a head wound.

Moore and the woman had been married a year and were estranged. He was under court order to stay away from her when he entered her bedroom and fired the fatal blast.

Moore and his first wife were divorced.

Tracing Of Burned Mail

Without criticism man's ability to converse with his fellows would be repressed indeed.

There is no doubt that criticism often serves a useful purpose, but not the carping, ceaseless kind which is about as palatable as excessive laudation.

Ben Franklin expressed it this way: "Blame-all and praise-all are two block-heads."

Faultfinding comes easier than appreciation as any business man who serves the public will attest. In this connection government agencies often are the most convenient whipping boys for the critics.

On the other hand there are many tasks performed by both government agencies and business establishments which go unnoticed. For purposes of finishing this essay we would like to call attention to the beneficial service performed in the Sedalia postoffice recently.

Some boys tossed lighted matches into mail drop box outside the postoffice building. Mail caught fire. Much of it was partially destroyed. Postal workers set about examining the salvage to determine from whence it came. There was enough evidence among charred remains to furnish clues to the sources of 40 pieces of mail.

Next contacts were made with store proprietors and individuals to authenticate the clues. In most instances mailers were found to have duplicate copies of communications or orders, or their memories were good enough to indict another letter. Aside from delay by the fire the original purposes of the communications were effected as a result of the enterprise of employees in the Sedalia post office.

An incident like this, as in the case of so many others, affords background for conscientious performances of routine tasks which usually go unnoticed and unappreciated.

Furthermore this episode points up the merit of efficient service performed with eagerness and loyalty toward the job at hand, in contrast with that of the perfunctory type when routine duties are executed carelessly and superficially.

There's a deal of difference between the two methods the first of which deserves a compliment for those in the Sedalia postoffice who traced the source of burned mail.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

The Greeks Just Don't Like Mr. Dulles

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is now reporting from the vitally important Near East.)

By DREW PEARSON

ATHENS, GREECE—The Greeks have a word for John Foster Dulles. It is "anekdiegetos" and it's difficult to translate. It means a short story that can't be told in a short story, which is another way of saying they don't understand Mr. Dulles, can't explain Mr. Dulles, and don't like Mr. Dulles.

Americans, watching the Greek scene, put it another way—namely, that every time the United States has piled up good will with Greece, Mr. Dulles knocks it over with a single statement.

Two years ago this month Secretary Dulles did this by sending identical notes to Greece and Turkey after the Turks had broken open Greek stores in Turkey, ruined several million dollars worth of produce, desecrated Greek churches, scalped a Greek priest and strewn the bones of Greek graves over the landscape. Completely failing to differentiate between the aggressor and the aggrieved, Mr. Dulles sent equal notes of admonition to both Greece and Turkey. He had much better said absolutely nothing.

The result was a storm of Greek indignation plus the stoning of the American consulate in Salonika.

Another Faux Pas

This September, almost on the anniversary of Mr. Dulles' former booboo, someone in his State Department dropped another off-the-cuff remark that left the sensitive Greek people seething.

It was stated at the State Department that neither President Eisenhower nor Secretary Dulles would receive the famed Cypriot patriot, Archbishop Makarios, when he came to the United States.

Cyprus is a Mediterranean island which may not mean much to the average American, but in Greece this was like yelling "down with the Pope" on the steps of Cardinal Spellman's archdiocese in Fifth Avenue. Archbishop Makarios hadn't asked to see Dulles or Eisenhower, had not yet left for the U.S.A., might not even have gone to Washington. Yet the State Department handed him a gratuitous slap-in-advance anyway.

On top of this, and only a few days later, the Voice of America congratulated the Turks on their victory day celebration of the 1922 war with Greece. True, the Voice of America has always done this, just as the American ambassador in Greece attends the anniversary of the battle when the Greeks pushed the Turks out of Athens.

But coming right after the Makarios snub, the combined boobos offset several hundred million dollars worth of foreign aid poured into Greece. A kind word, especially in Greece, will sometimes work more miracles than dollars anyway.

Guest Editorial—

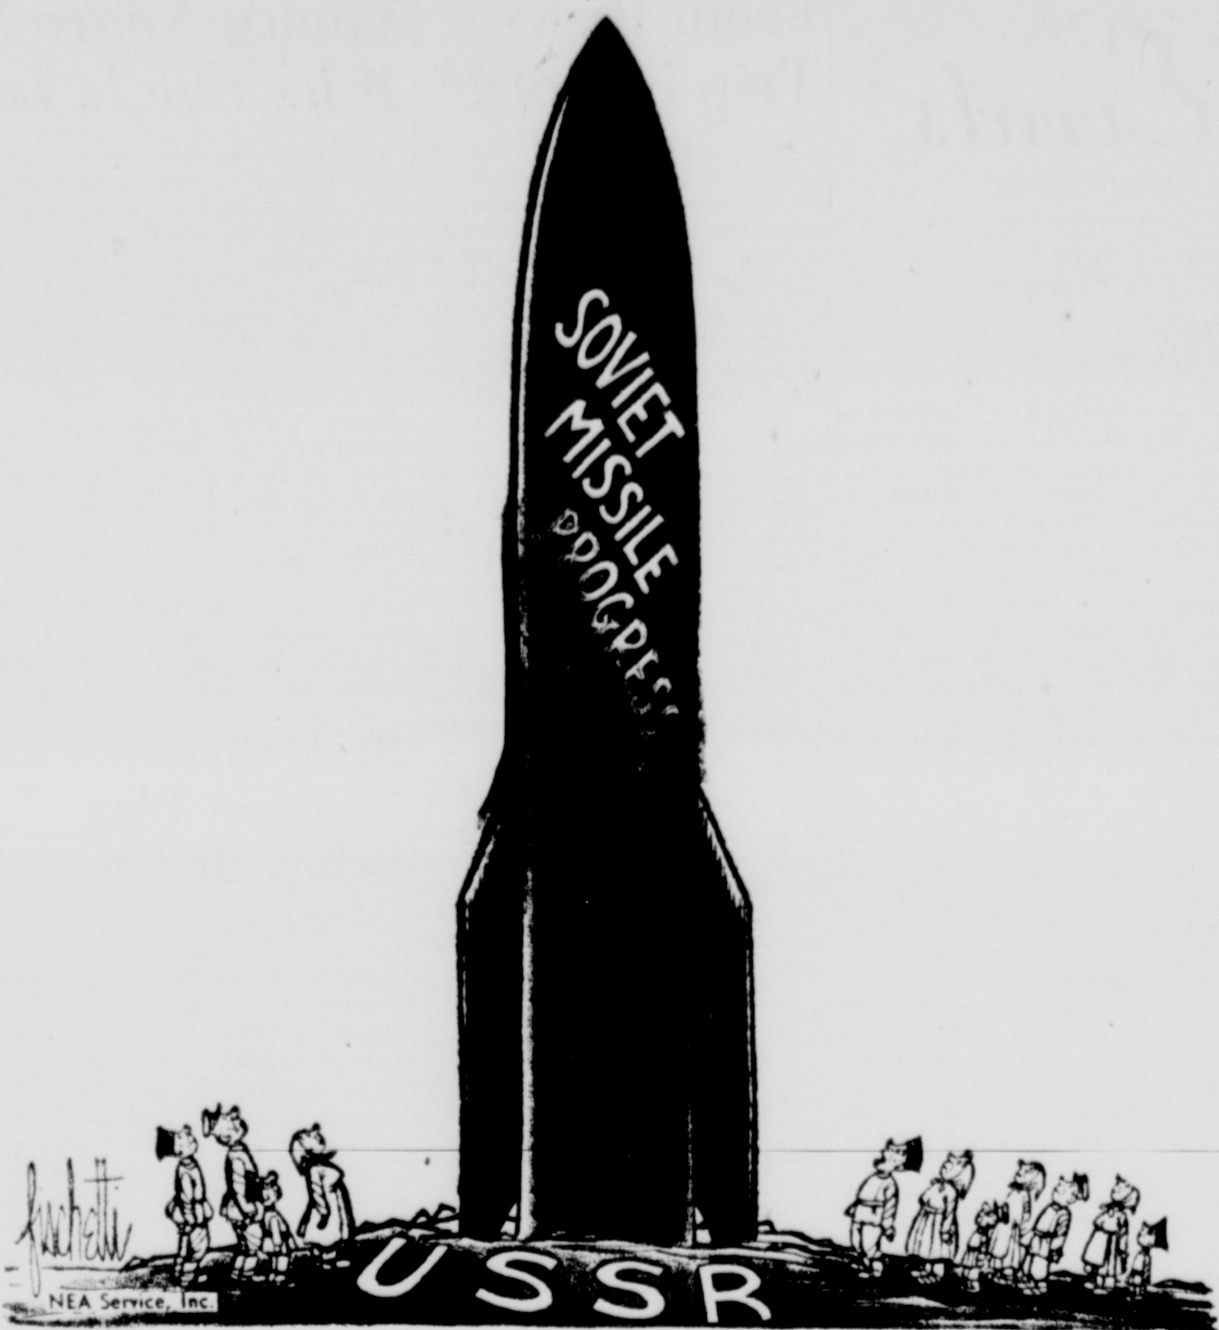

DENVER POST: The Billboard Blight. The continuing battle to keep billboards from fouling up the country's new 41,000-mile superhighway system has brought some of the most fantastic inventions from the outdoor advertising proponents. They now tell us "nature lovers" that they try to landscape their displays to make them lovely—implying that a big sign showing a svelt babe sipping a soft drink is actually an improvement on nature, which is doubtful. To safety experts, they make reference to "studies" . . . showing that a driver who gazes at shaving soap signs along the road is actually benedicted in his driving—persuading the posters will "relieve traffic fatigue." . . .

This is the sort of baloney we are bound to be subjected to until the billboard blight is finally overcome. . . .

The reason is pointed out by the Kiplinger magazine, Changing Times. The magazine notes that if you now think you see more billboards than ever on the highways, you are so right. Back in 1940, advertisers spent $44,700,000 putting up billboards. This year they are going to shell out more than $200,000,000 for the same purpose. By the time the new superhighway system gets going—

Obviously the battle of the billboards is going to be a long, long siege. But it is going to have its comic aspects, too, now that the advertisers have run out of reasonable arguments and have had to resort to such wacky nonsense as claiming therapeutic and beautifying qualities for their contributions to the landscape.

US Communist Party Has Convulsions

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Communist party is having convulsions. They're not death throes. But the party is sick, torn by factions, and losing members.

It claimed 80,000 members in 1945. It claims only 10,000 now, and says it lost 7,000 in the past year. Some of its most dedicated members quit, like Howard Fast, novelist, and Joseph Clark, foreign editor of the Daily Worker.

On one side is the William F. Foster faction. Foster is the party's chairman emeritus and an old-line Stalinist. He became party chairman after the war and under his leadership it reached the edge of disaster.

Chief spokesman for the other side is John Gates, editor in chief of the Daily Worker, the party's newspaper, and critic of the party's failure to find a way to keep its members and increase its effectiveness.

The membership began dwindling under Foster, and the party found itself isolated from all other groups in American life. And then for a party which pretended to have the solutions for American living, it made a pitiful and abject admission.

A year ago it admitted it had misunderstood American economics by predicting a depression; it misunderstood the American Negro, American politics, American labor and, in short, what Americans thought and wanted.

And after Nikita Khrushchev, Russian Communist party boss, denounced Stalin the American party made a complete abdication.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Monday evening, Sept. 12, a gale of tornado proportions swept over a section of Pettis County in the Beaman vicinity, wrecking garages, chicken houses, barns, uprooting trees and doing other damage. No persons were injured.

1932
Henry Gum, Carthage, accepted management for the Miller Oil Co. in Sedalia and assumed his duties, succeeding William Summers, formerly of Springfield, who returned to that city.

1932
Oscar Erickson, new principal of Smith-Cotton High School, addressed the S-C Parent Teachers stressing administration of the high school.

1932
Mrs. Clifford W. Smith and two children, Clifford Jr., and Huston, London, Eng., were guests of her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Barnett, and Mr. Barnett, 921 West Sixth.

FORTY YEARS AGO
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Albertson, former Sedalians who had been residing at Parsons, Kan., returned to again make this city their home.

1917
The fire truck of Company No. 2, returning from a run to East Sedalia, collided with a Velie automobile driven by John W. Hicks at the intersection of Third and Ohio. The Hicks' motorcar was pushed into a street car of the City Light and Traction Co. Considerable damage resulted but no one was injured.

1917
Four train loads of National Guard members passed through Sedalia over the MKT en route to Ft. Sill, Okla., to start intensive training.

tion from any pretension to intellectual leadership.

It admitted that—up to the time of Khrushchev's revelations about Stalin's murders—it had accepted as "ipso facto valid" whatever the Russian Communist party did.

Khrushchev's speech rocked the American Communist party. But he opened the door to a split when he suggested non-Russian Communist parties could show some independence of Moscow and even be critical.

American Communists—but only some and in a limited way—became critical of Russia. But they became critical of one another too. This fitted in with what Khrushchev had in mind.

Since Communist parties—here and in Western Europe—were losing ground, a new front, with a pretension of independence from Moscow, might enable them to put on the appearance of independent, native Communist parties.

That in turn might enable them to infiltrate other groups and get their members elected to Parliaments.

But when the self-criticism began in this country it was the Gates group against the kind of leadership the Fosterites had provided and the Fosterites standing pat for the old-line kind of operation.

At its convention this year—which was in line with Khrushchev's ideas—the party made a show of independence from Moscow. This was just rearranging the furniture.

FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover told Congress shortly after this convention that American Communists "in fact have not broken with the Soviet Union" despite an "alleged declaration of independence."

Besides the nausea and disillusionment which drove some Communists out of the American party after Khrushchev's speech, there were other factors which caused a loss of membership.

One was the brutal Russian suppression of the Hungarians. An earlier one was this government's prosecution—and conviction—of more than 100 top and second-rung party leaders.

As of now the party is like a town council without mayor. It has a national executive committee running the show but no one man can claim to be the full boss.

Intemperance In College Students Worries Mother

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Today I have a number of questions from parents which are virtually impossible to answer. I can only discuss them.

One mother writes that her 15-year-old daughter, who is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and is well developed, has not yet begun menstruation. She does not know whether to become concerned about this.

Not all girls start their periods at the same age. Nevertheless, 15 is a little late. I should think it would be wise to have a doctor's opinion. Generally speaking, physicians do not like to interfere and prefer to let nature take its course in this respect.

Another mother writes, "I notice an intemperate tendency nowadays among young college people to smoke far too many cigarettes, drink too much coffee and then complain of not being able to sleep. Many of them, I am told, then turn to the use of sleeping pills. I deplore their necessity for such young people."

I suppose that young people have appeared somewhat intemperate to their elders since the dawn of history. I do not think that those who smoke too much or drink too much coffee are doing themselves any good. But frankly I have no idea that anything I or any other older person might say would have any effect. I can only join this correspondent in deploring intemperance.

Mrs. H. writes that her 10-year-old granddaughter has recently acquired the habit of cracking the joints of her fingers and wrists. She says the little girl does this

An heirloom is some old thing that nobody liked well enough to wear out.

America Bets The Field While Reds Back One Horse

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — With the London disarmament talks now definitely on the rocks, the international arms race for superiority in intercontinental ballistic missiles is definitely on again.

And the number one question becomes whether Russian or American methods are better for developing these new weapons.

Essence of the Russian system is to pick out the one best model available for any given type of weapon, then concentrate production in that, building up superiority.

Thus Russia, without aircraft carriers, has concentrated on submarines, in which it now has world superiority.

Russia even has submarines from which, when surfaced, intermediate range ballistic missiles—IRBM—can be fired.

The Russians are expected to have missiles which can be fired from submerged subs within a year or so.

So America has a new coastal defense problem to solve.

The American approach to this or any other defense plan is to develop a half-dozen or a score of weapons and methods to deliver an explosive charge against a given target.

The idea behind this is that if one fails, another may work.

Thus the United States—while doing research on ballistic missiles and developing its Strategic Air Force for long-range counterattacks on Russia—has helped countries surrounding the Communist bloc to build a chain of bases. From these it has been planned that if Russia starts a war, a retaliatory attack can be made by intermediate range bombing planes and missiles. With SAC, they could knock out up to two-thirds of Russia's population and production.

One of the biggest propaganda arguments of the Russians in recent days has been that their newly tested intercontinental ballistic missile cancels out the danger from the free world bases surrounding the Communist bloc.

The Russians now claim their missiles can knock out any or all these bases. Recognizing that the Russians have not produced their new missile in quantity, the non-Communist countries will stick to their systems.

Truman Makes Statement About Federal Law

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"No governor can nullify the federal Constitution or the laws passed by Congress and approved by the Supreme Court under it," Harry S. Truman said yesterday.

"When a governor cannot enforce these laws and decisions it is the sworn duty of the President of the United States to enforce them," he added.

The former President made it clear he was referring to racial segregation strife in Arkansas, but he did not name any governor in his statement to a news conference.

Truman said he volunteered the statement because he thought it should be made. He said it took a week to prepare it.

During President Andrew Jackson's term, Truman recalled, South Carolina decided to nullify certain federal tariff laws.

"The President informed the nullifiers that if they attempted to interfere with the enforcement of the laws of the United States, he would make a trip to South Carolina and hang all of them for treason. The nullifiers believed him, and the laws . . . stood the test."

a mission study book will be taught for each age group from the primaries on through the adults. The adult book will be taught by Will Hudson, the young people's book will be taught by Owen Fox and Glen Reckard, the intermediate book will be taught by Dan Murray and Mrs. Edna Wills, the junior book will be taught by Mrs. Steele, and the primary book will be taught by Mrs. L. R. Mills.

The missionary speaker for this Sunday night will be Rev. Tuttle, who is a pioneer missionary in Ohio. The schedule for the remainder of the week is: Monday night, a missionary film; Tuesday night, Rev. Pitney, pastor in Monroe City, Mo.; Wednesday night, Rev. Johns, missionary to Indians in Arizona; Thursday night, Rev. Blair, missionary to Argentina; Friday night, Rev. Halbrook, superintendent of missions in Dent County.

The East Church has called Mrs. Allison Yeager to serve as minister of music. Mrs. Yeager began her ministry with the church last Sunday. She comes very highly recommended, having taught in several Southern Baptist Colleges and having served as minister of music in several Southern Baptist Churches in which she has established a standard program of music along with a fully graded choir program.

First Christian Will Start Two Services

Two identical services of worship will be held during the fall and winter months at First Christian Church. The early service begins at 8:30 a. m. and the late service at 10:30 a. m. The youth and junior choirs will sing at the early service and the adult choir at the late service. The sermon topic announced for Sunday by Harry Purviance, minister, is "God's Stewardship."

The Sedalia friends of the First Christian Church of Marshall received an invitation this week to attend dedication services for the new church building of the First Christian Church in that city. The service is to be at 3 p. m. and the invitation was extended by Harvey Baker Smith, minister.

New residents in the area, those who had moved to the Lake area to retire talked of the old church and formed a group to remodel and save the old structure. Now a beautiful rock church, built around the old building stands on the hill overlooking the area.

The church cemetery has been cleared of brush and is well kept.

Ed McAllister, North Street Methodist Church in Marshall, will be the guest speaker.

Joseph Brame, Clinton, will accompany the men's choir. Ellis Smith and Cecil Cooper are chairmen of the Men's Day program.

Starting Lineup for Tigers Will Be Known After Toss

"It's a problem," Coach Stub Dow said when asked about his starting lineup for tonight's game at Fulton, the first Central Missouri Conference game in the conference. No names will be announced until just before game time, and they may not be selected until after the toss of the coin to decide the kickoff.

The problem is that Coach Dow and his assistants Howard Glavin and Bob Edmondson have been working with 62 football players, all fine boys and all anxious to make the team. Getting a starting lineup provided the real problem, in fact such a problem that the trio got their heads together Thursday and decided on two lineups. The "flip" will tell which one will start and then one or two players might be switched before they get on the gridiron.

Smith-Cotton opened their 1956 season at Fulton, a non-conference tilt at that time, and finally lucked out a victory. The conversion was the margin of difference 7 to 6.

Fulton and Mexico become official members of the Central Missouri Conference this year. Hence the game between Smith-Cotton and Fulton will mark the first official competition in the conference for Fulton, and is the first CEMO conference tilt of the season.

The Tiger opponents have a new coach this year. Reports from the Fulton practice field are to the effect Fulton will be plenty of trouble, a tough foe for any of the CEMO clubs in 1957.

"They'll be tough, they'll be tough," Dow said in talking about Fulton.

More than half the 62 players are expected to make the trip, and cutting the traveling squad down has become another problem for the coaching staff. Some of the boys who will not make the trip are fairly good football players but will still have their chance to "bump" some of those who make it to Fulton tonight. If they continue to improve next week as they have, competition still remains rough for everybody.

The latest "dope" from Fulton is the team is somewhat lighter in weight compared to the Tigers, but are fired up over their new head coach. They have three lettermen back from last season and on a whole the squad is less experienced than the Sedalians.

The Fulton Coach who hails from Pittsburg Teachers College, Kan., has used the unbalanced "T" formation, but it is not known if this will be the same formation the Fulton team will use.

After a disappointing season in 1956, the Smith-Cotton coaching staff is optimistic over the material it has been training this fall and are looking for a much brighter season.

Coach Dow explained the opening this year will be exceptional in that no serious injuries have been suffered during training, the only hurts being light bruises.

The team is assured of a rooting section at this opener. The Spiz girls are taking the school bus to Fulton and will be on the sideline. Then, too, there are a large number of parents and local fans who plan on making the trip.

The Tigers will travel to St. Joseph Sept. 20, to play Central high school. The first home game for the locals will be on the 27th when Springfield comes to Sedalia to play at the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium.

The Tigers leave high school about 2:30 o'clock for the trip to Fulton in one of the large and newer school buses.

The tentative line-ups are as follows:

Former Champions Will Watch Bout Of Sandy, Suzuna

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—A dozen former champions will be in the crowd tonight watching Randy Sandy of New York City and Germany's Franz Suzuna tangle in a 10-round middleweight bout.

Free-swinging Randy is a 7-5 favorite over the aggressive Teuton in the nationally televised bout.

The former champions are here for a pre-fight testimonial to welterweight titleholder Carmen Basilio, who battles Sugar Ray Robinson for the middleweight crown Sept. 23.

New Jersey Town Wants Dodger Team

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP)—This community of 17,000, once known as New Brooklyn, has invited the Brooklyn Dodgers to move here.

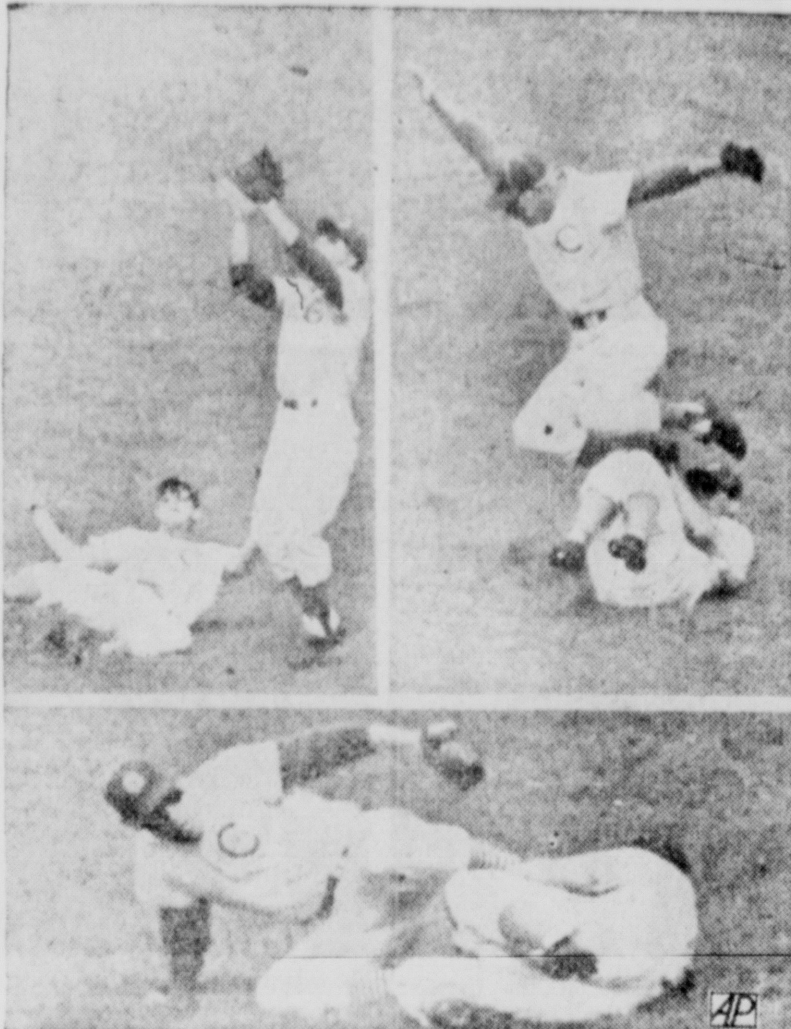

In an open letter to Dodger President Walter O'Malley, Mayor Robert M. Baldwin said:

"Go west Dodgers, but only across the Hudson to South Plainfield, New Jersey. You have the team, Rockefeller has the money, and we have the land."

O'Malley has not yet commented on the proposal.

Braves At Last Prove Their Stuff Against the Dodgers

Ex-Columbia Coach Misses Football Post

NEW YORK (AP)—Lou Little confessed today the transition from active football coaching to sideline advising and experting does not come easy.

"I feel lost," he says. "On Sept. 1, I was out playing golf and I was preoccupied. I asked myself, Why am I here? I ought to be coaching football. It isn't as easy as people think to stop after 37 years of coaching."

Little has retired after a distinguished career. He was at Columbia for 27 of his 37 years. He still loves the game. He is the permanent chairman of the Committee on Rules of the American Coaches Assn. He plans to tour the nation this fall, and he will write a series of special articles on football for The Associated Press.

Bronzed, husky voiced, he is the picture of energy and health.

"I will remain active in football," he insists. "I will be as close to the game as ever. It is going to seem odd on Saturdays to be watching games as a spectator, but I always used to relax by watching professional football on Sundays, so I guess I can do it on Saturdays."

He wants to see all the varieties of football he can, but he won't promise any sweeping changes in the rules.

"We need to watch developments," he says. "Changes are bound to come as the game improves—changes not for the sake of changes, but only for improvement, or the elimination of unpleasant features."

"I believe the substitution rule will remain in principle. It will be a long time, if ever, that we would go back to free substitutions."

their chief tormentors — Brooklyn's dethroned Dodgers.

The Braves never looked more like champs than last night. Held to only four hits by rookie Danny McDevitt, they paired 'em with walks and beat the Brooks 2-1 on Del Crandall's pinch single in the ninth.

With second-place St. Louis idle, the Braves padded their National League lead for the first time in nine days, gaining a five-game bulge with 15 to play and reducing their pennant-clinching magic number to 11.

Any combination of Braves' victories and St. Louis defeats totaling 11 starts the beer flowing in Milwaukee.

The American League should settle its pennant scrap in the next 24 hours in a two-game showdown between the New York Yankees and Chicago's second-place White Sox opening at Yankee Stadium today.

The Sox, who whipped Boston 7-1 yesterday while the Yankees were idle, are five games behind with 16 left (two more than the Yankees have).

Only one other game was played in the majors, with Detroit defeating Washington 8-5. The Braves, who had lost five of eight, had to scrap all the way against McDevitt, 24. They collected eight walks, but managed hits in the fourth and ninth—scoring in each frame.

The Dodgers scored in the second off Bob Buhl, the chased the right-hander in the fourth with a single and two walks that loaded the bases.

Bob Trowbridge relieved and got out of the jam through a double play.

In the ninth, after a leadoff walk, Wes Covington hit into an apparent double play, but plate umpire Dusty Boggess ruled he had called time before the pitch. Boggess started the play over again after rejecting Dodger arguments, and Covington singled. A forceout followed, but Crandall then slashed his single.

Trowbridge won his sixth. McDevitt fanned seven and gave the Dodgers an NL record. The Brooks' 823 strikeout betters their own league record of 817 set in 1953.

The White Sox rapped 14 hits, including Luis Aparicio's third home run, while right-hander Jim Wilson won his 14th—his high in an 11-year career. Wilson, the AL's shutout leader, lost a bid for his sixth whitewash job on an unearned run in the seventh. Frank Sullivan was the loser for a 13-16 record.

Ray Boone and Frank Bolling homered for the Tigers, who pocketed six of the game's 10 unearned runs. Duke Maas won his 10th with relief help while Chuck Stobbs lost his 19th.

Predictions On Golfing Come True

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Before the 57th National Amateur Golf Championship started last Monday, Rex Baxter predicted that a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team would win the title.

Dick Yost, a team alternate, figured if he wanted to bet on the outcome, he'd have to string along with Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor or Baxter as his choices.

The astuteness of their forecasts and of the selections of the Walker Cup Committee were reflected in the matches today in the tournament's 36-hole semifinals.

It was Taylor, the stylish 40-year-old dentist-golfer from Pomona, Calif., against Mason Rudolph, bespectacled 23-year-old Army private from Clarksville, Tenn., and Baxter, 31 and a senior at the University of Houston, against lean Hillman Robbins, an Air Force lieutenant from Memphis, Tenn.

All four played on the U.S. Walker Cup team against Britain's top amateurs less than two weeks ago and all but Robbins won their singles matches.

None of them reached the semifinals without a few misgivings. Taylor, who hadn't seen the last six holes since Monday, had to go to the 18th twice yesterday to beat Jim Tom Blair and former Public Links champion Gene Andrews, both by two-hole margins.

Rudolph eliminated Yost, a big, blond youngster who played on the 1955 Walker Cup team, with a birdie on the 19th hole of their quarter-final match after Yost had caught him with a superb approach shot from behind a tree at the 18th.

Robbins a 2-up winner over Tim Holland in the morning's fifth round, finished off former champion Dick Chapman 3 and 1 in the only quarter-final match that didn't reach the 18th green. Baxter had to go to the 21st before sopping another University of Houston player, Phil Rodgers.

Concentrated On His Game, Not His Color

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The first Negro to play football for the University of Oklahoma said he didn't worry half as much about breaking the color barrier as he did about learning to play defense.

But, as a sophomore now, 193-pound Prentice Gautt feels comfortable talking about either.

He said simply: "things like that usually work out all right."

The 19-year-old Oklahoma City Negro will be filling All-American Tommy McDonald's place in the Big Red backfield if his pre-season showings do not fizzle.

He said a talk with Coach Bud Wilkinson did more good than anything else in his learning defense. "When I first came down here as a freshman, and also this spring, I had sort of a feeling that if I really let go and popped somebody it might cause trouble," he said.

"But Coach Wilkinson called me in and said to just get in there and get loose. It's really helped me."

Whether Gautt can keep his spot on the first unit is purely conjecture. But he's confident he'll play a lot of football for the Sooners the next three seasons.

Gautt was a whiz in Oklahoma City's Douglass High School as he led the Trojans to 43 straight victories before they were defeated in his senior year.

Gautt came to OU without an athletic scholarship and without a single minute of defensive experience in high school.

The high school had kept OU scouts away from his door. Gautt's way as a freshman was paid by a group of Oklahoma City Negro businessmen.

Ed Murrow Amasses Large Collection of Superstitions

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Murrow

who defies superstition himself by launching the fifth "Person to Person" season over CBS-TV tonight, has collected quite an assortment of crotchets, charms and quails in interviewing the great and near great.

Concert star Gladys Swarthout ignores one old "don't" by singing in the dressing room, but goes into a snit over overturned salt.

Says Lisa Kirk of night clubs and stage: "I touch wood when I sneeze and I feel rain means good luck."

The Duchess of Windsor, who dislikes the number 13, won't put a hat on a bed or hang anything on a doorknob.

Audrey Meadows advised Murrow: "If something happens, you spin around three times, sit down and count to 10."

Imogene Coca vowed she wasn't superstitious, but told Murrow she wears one certain pair of patched blue jeans to every rehearsal.

For the first guest of the new season, "Person to Person" has Julie London, another lass who dotes on 13—she even insisted her first 3 record albums each contain 13 songs. The other guest is to be Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee. Not a hint of superstition there—or with Murrow himself.

"I'm only careful about one thing," insists the commentator. "I never cross a street against the light."

CHANNEL CHATTER: Gordon Duff, producer of "The Night America Trembled," explains that the reason Orson Welles got nary a mention as the guy who triggered the original airwave ruckus was because CBS network officials unsuccessfully tried for weeks to reach him, then decided he could not be mentioned without his consent. . . .

Waggoner Was Youngest Man To Be Named Head of Patrol

This is another in a series of stories about Missourians in the news.)

By Larry Hall

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—At 34 he was the youngest state patrol superintendent in the nation—and the first one to jump from trooper to the top job.

Today at 47 (this is his birthday) Col. Hugh H. Waggoner heads a highway patrol that is widely regarded as one of the best in the country.

There was some consternation back in 1945 when newly-elected Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Lebanon picked the trooper from his hometown to head the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Some feared the appointment might mean political domination of the patrol, which is set up by law as a bipartisan agency. But the young superintendent quickly assured his men the patrol would operate the same as always—with promotions based on merit and seniority.

That is the way it has been and Waggoner says that is the way it will continue to be so long as he has anything to say about it. Personally, he is a Little Dixie Democrat, a native of Callaway County. But he is a firm believer in the principle that politics should have nothing to do with law enforcement.

The Missouri patrol's history dates back to 1931 when it was established during the administration of Gov. Henry S. Caulfield. Waggoner has been a member since 1937, except for a four-year interval on the staff of the National Safety Council.

He joined up in the depths of the depression, one of several thousand applicants for the 35 trooper jobs that opened up. He passed all the tests, was accepted and took his training that summer at Camp Clark, near Nevada.

His first assignment was at North Kansas City, a tough one in those days of gang killings.

After about a year he was transferred to Lebanon where he stayed until appointed superintendent in 1945. While there he nabbed three Los Angeles bank robbers one day on U. S. 66 near Waynesville. The two men and a woman were armed but did not resist. They were sent back, convicted and sentenced.

Ft. Leonard Wood was building then and they were busy days on the highways of that area. Bloody 66, "Main Street of America," was a testing ground for skill and courage.

Another case Waggoner remembers resulted in finding a soldier's body in a cistern near Conway, Mo. August Oberbeck was convicted in that killing and is now serving a life term at the state penitentiary.

When Donnelly appointed Waggoner in 1945, he kept his new superintendent busy in a series of

Warns Doctor Shortage May Get Worse

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Unless health professions take drastic action, the doctor shortage will get worse, Dr. Carl E. Morrison of St. Cloud, Minn., president of the American Osteopathic Assn., said last night.

Dr. Morrison spoke at a banquet to 500 attending the 57th annual convention of the Missouri Assn. of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

"Today's health services involve almost everyone," he said. "Labor unions and luncheon clubs, philanthropic foundations and government units, all have some voice in the distribution and quality of health care. And as taxpayers and voters they all have a stake in hospitals, health insurance plans, research organizations and public health service."

"Present government aid is helpful in meeting current problems. But we must set up a comprehensive program with adequate support to meet the growing demands on us."

"Unless the doctors take the lead in this planning and cooperate with interested groups, others will have to do it without consulting them. And this could destroy the freedom of doctor-patient relationship we all enjoy today."

Dr. Chester Arthur Tedrick, a pioneer radiologist of Lakeside Hospital in Kansas City, was named "Physician of the Year," by the Association at the banquet.

Earlier yesterday the association adopted a resolution asking a change in Missouri law so that civil defense forces could be used in natural as well as war-time disasters.

Installed as president was Dr. Vernon H. Casner, 516, Kirksville, chairman of the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery.

Other officers elected were Dr. R. A. Michael, Jefferson City, president-elect; Dr. George Ringland, Cape Girardeau, first vice president and Dr. Alouise Fenton, Wyatt, second vice president.

Tobacco Heir Marries

NEW YORK (AP)—Anthony Drexel Duke, 39, tobacco heir, and Diane Douglas, 24, socially prominent 1951 debutante, were married yesterday at the fashionable River Club in midtown Manhattan.

The Rev. Walter Donald Kring of the Unitarian Church of All Souls officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by members of the families and a few close friends.

The bride worked for Conde Nast Publications as a secretary. It was the third marriage for Duke, his previous marriages ending in divorce.

Police Trap Catches Two Missourians

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A police trap was sprung here late yesterday on two escapees from the State Hospital for Criminally Insane at Fulton, Mo.

FBI agents and city police made the capture without giving the two men a chance to use their weapons.

The two, James H. Fitch, 22, Kansas City, and Frank Ray DeFord, 26, St. Louis, were to be arraigned today on a federal charge of taking a stolen car across state lines.

Fitch, DeFord and Harold Hendrickson, 35, Menasha, Minn., escaped from the hospital Sept. 2 and made their way to Minnesota. Tuesday they overpowered two Minneapolis patrolmen and fled in stolen cars.

Wednesday Fitch and DeFord came to Kansas City while Hendrickson stayed in Minnesota, police said.

A patrolman spotted a stolen car parked in a residential area here yesterday. Clearing the street of children and warning residents to stay indoors, the police and FBI agents watched the car from hiding places.

Fitch and DeFord walked to the car about two hours later and got in.

Using a loudspeaker, police warned the pair they were surrounded and ordered them to come out with their hands up. The men surrendered without resistance.

When sent to the hospital at Fulton for observation Fitch was serving a nine-year term for a sex crime in 1954, and DeFord was doing 20 years for the 1944 slaying of his foster mother.

Cabaret Dancer Sues Producer for Slander

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Julie Gibson, a cabaret cutie who makes a piece of resistance of peeling off parts of her dancing costume, is asking $25,000 from a summer playhouse producer because he said she was "not sexy enough" for a sultry role.

That statement was slander, Miss Gibson contended in a suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

Michael Ellis, producer at the neighboring Bucks County Playhouse, admitted saying it, but added: "I don't think it is slanderous to say somebody isn't sexy. My mother isn't sexy."

Miss Gibson was hired to play the Jayne Mansfield part in a production of "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" and was replaced a few days before the play opened Monday night.

Wife Will Collect Reward for Lost Badge

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Lawrence Oliver lost his badge, a serious matter for a detective.

As required by police rules, he ran newspaper ads and offered a reward for return of the badge.

Oliver got results. His wife Lilian said she found the badge in a shoebox on the floor of a clothes closet in their home. The matter of the reward, she added, will be settled next payday.

Smith-Cotton Juniors Hold Ice Cream Social

The traditional ice cream social sponsored by the Junior Class will be held Sept. 17 from 5:30 to 9 p.m. This has been an annual affair since 1951, with each year's Juniors selling more tickets than the class before.

Eighty-five home made cakes have been pledged by the members of the Junior Class. Various flavors of ice cream will be served with the cakes.

Many people have enjoyed these ice cream socials in the past and this year should be no exception.

This Is One to Remember

'Mr. Motorist' Sends His Flowers, But It's Too Late

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A letter addressed to "Dear Mr. Motorist" arrived at the Mirror-News.

"I am not writing this to you to remind you all over again," the letter said, "but to all motorists because school again begins."

"I want to prevent the tragedy that we have shared together—a mother and you, Mr. Motorist."

"That day three sun-tanned little faces smiled as they waved me a happy goodbye and so important—went on their way to school. I wanted to call them back to tell them how homesome it would be."

"Mr. Motorist, I wanted to kiss them once more. . . . Then I saw you take that corner—tires screaming, car out of control."

Leona Gage Enjoys Fame At Las Vegas

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Will there be a sequel to the brief, stormy career of Leona Gage, the most famous beauty contest loser of all time?

The answer cannot be found here in Las Vegas, where she is cashing in on her newfound fame to the tune of $500 a week in walkons in the extravaganza at the Hotel Tropicana.

Leona Gage is the dark-haired Maryland beauty who won the Miss U.S.A. title in this year's Miss Universe pageant, then had her crown snatched away. It turned out she was not a miss, as the contestants are required to be. She had been married not once, but twice, and had two children.

Though she was banished from the contest, the tall 18-year-old appeared to have come off better than the winner. Leona was signed to appearances on the Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen shows, did a dramatic role on TV's Matinee Theater and has a four-week contract with options at the Tropicana.

Then what? Will she fade into oblivion as her publicity grows more dim?

"I don't know what I'll do," she said. "Twentieth Century-Fox has an option for a screen test, and I do know this: I want to act more than anything else in the world."

As she talked between shows, I gained some insight on why she would deny that she had been married until the facts were overwhelming.

"When I was a girl, I went to 13 different schools," she said. "My family was always on the move; I never had a chance to roots. Since I was married to an Air Force man, it looked as if my two sons would lead the same kind of life. I didn't want that."

"I never was really happy. I had no sense of fulfillment. Acting has given me that, and I know now that I want to act more than anything else in the world."

Her agents are convinced that she'll get the chance. They are the same ones who guided Kim Novak to fame. The public's reaction? "I have received many, many letters offering me encouragement," she said. "There are other letters, too, but I don't read them."

"What was your hurry? Were you late for work? Were you angry at someone?"

"Surely not my three. I am sure you would not want to run your screaming tires over their happy faces intentionally, erasing forever the smiles they had for me."

"But, Mr. Motorist, children are very forgiving in life and—I'm sure—in death. They would feel sad that because of one tragic moment you are left to live over and over again how your love of speed took three lives."

"I don't hate you any more. I feel sorry for you. I can still see those smiling little faces as they wave me goodbye."

The letter was signed. Under the signature this postscript: "Another year. And once again your flowers arrive. They are beautiful. Thank you."

The newspaper sent reporter Charles Neiswender to investigate. He talked with a close friend of the letter writer. She told him the letter was written four years ago on the first anniversary of the tragedy. It was written but never intended to be mailed to the man who was driving the car. The friend sent the letter to the paper, which printed it yesterday.

The motorist?

He still sends the mother flowers on each anniversary of the children's death.

And the mother?

She couldn't write a letter now. For in her mind she still waves goodbye to the smiling faces of her children.

The tragedy was too much. She is in a mental hospital, hopelessly insane.

Says Juvenile Judges' Lives Are Threatened

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn judge says teen-age defendants have been brazenly defying the law in Children's Court—hurling chairs and inkwells and threatening the lives of presiding justices.

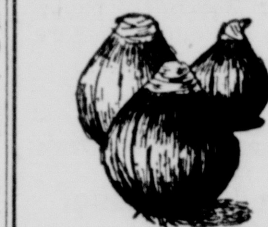

Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz cited examples of juvenile disrespect yesterday as he charged two grand juries on methods of dealing with youthful offenders.

Leibowitz said the chair-throwing occurred in Queens a few months ago. He said the chair struck the judge on the head and "nobody ever heard a word about it."

"I've had them stand before me in court and spit at me," Leibowitz added. "I don't believe in brutality or club-swinging, but I think it's the height of insanity to treat them with cream-puffs."

Museum Frets Over Problem Of a Mummy

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Museum has an unwanted Egyptian mummy that is all wound up in red tape.

The museum acquired the mummy some years ago for its wrappings, described as "beautifully decorated in dark red, yellow, green and white."

The body is of a man, about 65 years old, born in Egypt around 300 A.D.

John Cooney, curator of the museum's Egyptian department, says the mummy's comparative youth—only 1,600 years old—makes the body less valuable.

Cooney explained yesterday the museum's "muddle of the mummy."

Burn it? A museum assistant, a Roman Catholic, felt that it was against divine law thus to destroy a human body.

Bury it? It turns out that a city burial permit hinges upon a certificate, signed by a physician and describing the cause of death. How the Egyptian gentleman succumbed is not known.

Ship it to another museum? You need a death certificate to get a body-shipping permit, Cooney said.

However, it seems that Dr. Milton Helsen, city chief medical examiner, may come to the rescue on the shipping angle.

Helsen said the usual procedure for shipping mummies or cadavers is to obtain a Health Department certificate reading simply: "Anatomical specimen—mummy," or "Anatomical specimen—cadaver." The latter tag would make the mummy eligible for use by a medical school.

Cooney was surprised when told of Helsen's statement.

"Like most complicated things," Cooney said, "this one seems to have a simple solution."

Eisenhower Calls for Top Aids in Faubus Meeting

Faubus Accused Of 'Throwing In the Sponge'

By Ed Creagh

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The White House announced today President Eisenhower has called two top aides here for his Saturday morning conference with Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus on the Little Rock, Ark., school integration crisis.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Atty. Gen. Brownell and chief White House assistant Sherman Adams will fly here from Washington in connection with the Eisenhower-Faubus meeting, which could effect the future of integration in the South.

Word came from Little Rock, meanwhile, that Faubus will be accompanied by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), a personal friend of the President.

Hays, who has been praised by the President in the past though they are of opposing political parties, represents the district which includes Little Rock. It was Hays who let the White House know Faubus would come here Saturday for the conference which the Arkansas governor sought with Eisenhower.

Indications were the President would talk privately at first with Faubus at their 9 a. m. meeting Saturday. Then Brownell and the others were expected to join in the talk, which is aimed at ending the federal-state deadlock over Faubus' use of troops to block school integration.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty took sharp exception to a broadcast report quoting White House aides as saying Faubus had "thrown in the sponge" in the federal-state deadlock by seeking the appointment with the President and saying he would go as far as he could toward resolving the impasse.

"Completely untrue," Hagerty said.

He added that the President had instructed him to say Eisenhower denied "radio and television comment" to the effect that the White House thought Faubus has given up.

In Little Rock, Ark., a source close to the governor said Faubus is coming here "to confer, not capitulate."

Charles von-Fremd, CBS White House correspondent, said he had attributed the phrase "throw in the sponge" to a White House aide in the broadcast this morning. He said he stood by his report.

The White House plainly hoped Faubus could be induced to withdraw the National Guard troops he ordered out to block a federal court-ordered start of mixing white and Negro pupils at Little Rock's Central High School, current focal point of the controversy.

Arraigned on Charge Of Forging Dead Man's 'X' To a State Check

ST. JOSEPH, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Gertrude L. Kirkpatrick was arraigned here today on a charge she forged a dead man's X to a $60 state check.

She is charged with stealing, forgery and uttering. Her preliminary hearing will be Sept. 26.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fred Schoenlaub said the check was made out to Robert Seever, who died last Dec. 28. The check was not received here until January and was cashed in February. Schoenlaub said Mrs. Kirkpatrick formerly had operated a nursing home at the address to which the welfare check was sent to Seever.

Federal Judge Orders Integration

Forbids Interference With Desegregation in Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Federal Judge William E. Miller issued a strongly worded temporary court order today forbidding interference with officials carrying out his orders to desegregate Nashville schools.

Nashville city and school officials asked for the temporary restraining order to strengthen their hands against violence which has accompanied desegregation of first grades here.

The Clinton-type order forbids 12 individuals and anybody else acting in concert with them from interfering with school attendance in any manner.

The defendants include Northern segregationist John Kasper, who already has been convicted twice of violating similar injunctions during

No More Aid To Foreign Industries

Hollister Bows Out Of Gov't Service With Final Order

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Foreign Aid Director John B. Hollister bowed out of government service today with a final order halting use of aid funds to finance profit-making industries owned by foreign governments.

The surprise directive, aimed mainly at stepping up the flow of private American investment capital abroad, said private ownership "contributes more effectively than public ownership" to general improvement of economies.

Only in exceptional circumstances, it ruled, will U. S. aid money be used to develop publicly-owned "industrial and extractive (oil-mining)" enterprises overseas.

Spokesmen for the foreign aid agency, the International Cooperation Administration, said federal aid funds could still be employed to back such "normal projects" as building of roads, ports and some railways which private enterprise normally does not touch.

As they explained it, a deliberate goal of the new policy also will be to avoid strengthening socialism abroad with U. S. government money.

Newly developing nations in Asia, the Middle East and Africa, they said, probably will be hardest hit by the directive. It will rule out U. S. government financing for such past projects as a fertilizer plant in Korea, a cement plant in Pakistan, and textile mills and a slaughter house in Iran.

Hollister's farewell order was made public a few hours after he said a formal goodbye to nearly all 1,700 headquarters employees at a downtown hotel ceremony.

Secretary of State Dulles and the new foreign aid chief, ex-Navy pilot James B. Smith, showed up to laud Hollister's two-year tour as boss of the government's multimillion dollar global aid program.

Hollister, a conservative Republican formerly associated with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, said he would return to the law practice he and Taft set up in Cincinnati.

Lions Club Sponsors Local Queen Contest

A search for a young lady who might be crowned "Queen of the American Royal" in Kansas City has been started in Sedalia. The Sedalia Lions Club, for a third year, is sponsoring the local contest, with the candidate to be selected Oct. 2.

Lion Jim Van Wagner is chairman of the committee doing the work, with the assistance of Lions Jim Glenn, Jack Delph and Carl Yates.

Peggy Hewitt Homan will be the director of this year's contest.

Van Wagner has issued a call for eligible young ladies to enter the local contest. To be eligible, she must be 18 to 24 years of age, inclusive, single and not a previous candidate at the American Royal Queen contest in Kansas City.

Candidates will be judged as follows: 50 per cent on beauty, 30 per cent on poise and grooming and 20 per cent on culture and education. Three out-of-town judges, yet to be named, will interview the candidates the afternoon school integration violence in Clinton, Tenn., last year.

The move in U.S. District Court came during the second day of uneasy calm which has replaced the violence accompanying admission of 15 Negro first-graders to six formerly all-white school Monday.

The violence reached its peak early Tuesday with a dynamite blast which ripped open one of the newly integrated schools. Impatient police promptly turned tough and made dozens of arrests as they kept all demonstrators well scattered away from the key schools.

The Negro first-graders were admitted in the first step of a desegregation plan approved by Judge Miller.

The plan made 126 Negroes eligible to enter mixed classes. But most of them elected to transfer to Negro schools. Nashville has 3,500 first-graders, including 2,000 whites among a total enrollment of about 18,000.

Judge Miller set a hearing for Monday at 1 p. m. on whether an injunction should be issued to replace the restraining order.

Truman Calls No Names in Comment

Duty of President to Enforce Laws if Governor Cannot

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Harry S. Truman said tonight when a governor cannot enforce federal laws "it is the sworn duty of the president of the United States to enforce them."

The former President, without mentioning specifically the segregation issue or any governor by name, made the statement at a news conference shortly before he boarded a plane for New York. He is returning to New York to resume a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Truman Daniel.

Truman said: "When the governor of one of the great states of this great federal Union takes his oath of office, he swears on the holy Bible to support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the constitution of his own state. Laws passed under these constitutions must be enforced by the state chief executive, just as they are enforced by the president of these United States."

"No governor can nullify the federal Constitution or the laws passed and approved by the Supreme Court under it. When a governor cannot enforce these laws and decisions it is the sworn duty of the President of the United States to enforce them."

Previously Truman had refused to comment on the impasse at Little Rock. Asked if he was making the statement today in response to requests, Truman said he was making it voluntarily because he thought it "should be made."

In backgrounding his statement, the former President said in the early 1830s South Carolina decided

Industrial Council Underway

Preliminary Meet Held in Columbia; Benefits Discussed

The preliminary organization meeting of the proposed Mid-Missouri Industrial Development Council held in Columbia Tuesday was attended by 65 business and community leaders from 18 towns in the area. Attending from Sedalia were Vernon Rodick, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Jack Faber, executive manager, and Arthur Morgan, a member of the industrial committee.

The idea, which was received with much enthusiasm by those attending, was sponsored jointly by the Chambers of Commerce of Columbia, Jefferson City, Moberly and Sedalia. It was conceived after cities of the area lost industry to other areas, such as when a recent industry went to Kansas instead of Marshall, where all surrounding area of Missouri would have benefited to a degree, because what helps one town directly helps the others indirectly. (Sedalia was definitely not considered by this industry because much water was needed and it required a river.)

Considering this, however, the managers of the four sponsoring Chambers of Commerce realized that in all industries there were certain things needed and each town had all the qualifications necessary for some industries and not for others. Competition of other states and other areas is stiff, and with cooperative effort they may be able to bring industries into the area instead of letting them go into another area, when a town, like Marshall had for that particular industry, has everything needed but cannot swing the deal by itself.

It was on this basis that the four sponsoring Chamber managers planned the meeting and, in response to an invitation to attend, (Please turn to page 8, column 6)

Murderer Dies This Morning Gas Chamber

Missourian Gives Up Hope After Slaying Wife 28 Months Ago

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Stolidly, Thomas Erwin Moore waited tonight through his last hours before execution in Missouri's gas chamber for killing his wife 28 months ago.

Warden E. V. Nash said the 42-year-old, average-sized man had given up hope. No clemency was expected to delay his scheduled execution a few minutes after midnight.

Moore was convicted of killing his second wife in the bedroom of her Kansas City home with the woman's daughter from a previous marriage looking on.

He told the Jackson County Circuit Court he became nervous and decided to take his own life.

But the daughter, Wanda, testified that he got a shotgun from behind a dresser and loaded it before shooting her mother. Married less than a year, Moore had been ordered to stay away from his estranged wife because once before he had threatened her with violence.

Wanda, then 16 years old, screamed and ran from the bedroom. Her brother, Gene, 17, ran to the room and Moore first threatened him. Then, the youth testified, Moore lay down on the floor and aimed the gun at his own head. He shot away part of his forehead and a ridged scar disfigured him in prison.

The State Supreme Court upheld his conviction last June and Gov. James T. Blair refused to intervene in the final days, concluding on the basis of a psychiatrist's report that Moore was sane when he killed his wife.

Moore's parents and a brother and sister visited him Wednesday. A regular visitor has been the Rev. T. W. Nelson, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Jefferson City. He planned to comfort Moore right up to the time the gas chamber door was closed upon him.

Moore, once an active farmer, has exhibited a light appetite in his 18 months in death row, Warden Nash said.

He requested no special last meal and so was served the regular evening menu at the prison—grilled pork steak, mashed potatoes, vegetables, coffee and pumpkin pie.

US Attacks Gromyko; Syria, Egypt Combine

Soviet Called Follower Of Stalinist Line

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—In a blistering attack on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, the United States today charged he is trying deliberately to destroy the "bridges of understanding" which sustain hopes for world peace.

The State Department issued a formal statement deploring Gromyko's accusations against the West of two days ago. It called him a blusterer, a falsifier, intemperate and a follower of the tough Stalinist line which the Soviets themselves have rejected as hampering world peace.

"We had hoped for better things," the statement said.

Then, returning a favorite phrase of Soviet propaganda against the United States, it said: "But it seems that the Soviet Communists are, in all respects, confirmed reactionaries who can only replay the old wearisome tunes of which the world has grown tired."

The statement said Gromyko is trying again "to frighten the free nations from taking action to reinforce their freedom," and asserted the attempt will fail, just as it failed before.

Taken together, Gromyko's denunciation of Western policy for Europe, the Middle East and the Far East plus America's reaction looked like opening salvos in what may prove to be a classic debate between Gromyko and Secretary of State Dulles at the United Nations General Assembly.

Dulles will address the Assembly during its 1957 regular session next Tuesday. Gromyko is flying from Moscow in a Soviet TU104 jet airplane to attend the session.

The lines for the Dulles-Gromyko clash already are drawn. Gromyko, apparently acting in part to take the sting out of accusations before the United Nations against the Red Army's crushing of the Hungarian revolt, attacked first.

In a Moscow news conference Tuesday he accused the United States of threatening to attack Syria, wrecking the London disarmament talks and blocking German reunification.

On the same day, Dulles tempered U. S. expressions of alarm over the Syrian situation. He told his news conference he felt it could be settled peacefully. This attitude, coming after urgent airlifting of arms to neighbors of Syria and expressions of deep concern, was interpreted as being aimed partly at undercutting possible Soviet charges before the United Nations that the United States was just as guilty of aggressive action in Syria as it accused Russia of being in Hungary.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Red China proposed to the United States today a deal for exchange of newsmen. If accepted the proposal possibly could have been interpreted as a kind of back-door U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime.

The instant American response, however, was to turn the proposition down completely on the ground that no such deal is possible under American law.

Says UN Should Expel Hungarian Representatives

Cuba Presses for Condemnation of Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Cuba told the United Nations today it should expel the present representatives of Hungary and consider sanctions against the Soviet Union.

The demand came as the special Assembly session headed toward approval by a substantial margin of a 37-nation resolution condemning a new Soviet action in crushing the Hungarian revolt of last fall.

A vote is expected late tomorrow. Burma introduced a series of amendments intended to tone down the resolution. One would substitute the word "deplore" for "condemn." But American sources said the amendments were unacceptable to the sponsors. This appeared to doom their chance for approval.

Twenty-one nations are listed to speak tomorrow.

Cuba's Emilio Nunez-Portuondo expressed dissatisfaction with the resolution because it did not provide for sanctions against the Soviet Union for refusing to heed previous U.N. resolutions on Hungary. Sanctions could mean diplomatic, economic, or military restrictions by U. N. members against the Russians.

Nunez-Portuondo said also the resolution was incomplete because it did not call for expulsion of representatives of the regime of Premier Janos Kadar from the United Nations. He expressed hope that the 12th General Assembly opening on Tuesday would refuse to recognize their credentials.

Nunez-Portuondo denounced Kadar as a "traitor" and declared, "It is too much for us to admit representatives of the Kadar gov-

J. O. Miller Is Moderator For Course

To Hold Breakfast Meet for Economics Classes Each Week

J. O. Miller, guidance director at Smith-Cotton High School, has been chosen to serve as moderator for the economics education course sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

The 17-week course will start its first class on Tuesday, Sept. 17, with a breakfast in the Palm Room of the Bothwell Hotel and there will be a breakfast meeting each week, starting at 7 a. m. and lasting an hour and a half.

The course, according to the steering committee composed of Gaylon Insko, Arthur Morgan and Jim Woods, is meeting with wide acceptance and it appears at the present rate of interest several classes are possible. The course is under the recreation and education division of the Chamber, of which Ed Kehde, Jr., is general chairman.

The supplies of books, tapes and questionnaires have already been received at the Chamber office and everything is ready for the first class to start. Miller's job will be to prepare for each session much in the same sense as a professor prepares for class, studying the text matter, listening to the tape recordings, and becoming familiar with the questionnaires, and then to serve as moderator each week.

Because of the interest, tentative plans are for another class in the very near future.

Egypt Takes Command Of Both Armies

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Syria's army chief of staff announced today that the Syrian and Egyptian armies are a single force under Egypt's supreme command.

The Syrian army leadership has been characterized as pro-Soviet. Forces of both Egypt and Syria are equipped with Soviet arms.

Brig. Afif Bizry, who made a dramatic appearance here yesterday with his intelligence chief, Lt. Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, ended what he said were very amiable talks with Egyptian leaders and prepared to return to Damascus.

In an interview with the Egyptian Middle East News Agency, Bizry said he came here on a pilgrimage to see President Nasser and visited Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, Egyptian defense minister, "because it is the first duty of a soldier to contact his commander."

The Syrian leader, known in the Middle East as one of the most pro-Soviet Arab leaders, said his talks with Nasser and Egyptian military officials were "very amiable and there was a general review of the situation, as the two armies are one, with one command and one plan."

"It was reported we made new plans to meet the situation. But the truth is there is always a standing unified plan amended according to circumstances."

Bizry said Syria will not use its Soviet-supplied arms to attack anyone, including Israel.

"What we will do is fight back against any attack," he said. "We will burn the sky and the land to defend our country against Zionists or others."

In other statements Bizry said: The Soviet Union had never asked Syria to sacrifice its independence; 2. predicted the Arab countries getting U. S. arms will never use them against other Arabs, and 3. accused Secretary of State Dulles of waging a war of nerves against Syria.

House Where Abe Slept In 1859 Being Closed

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The historic Planter's House, where Abraham Lincoln slept in 1859, is being closed.

The 80 occupants of the building, now used as an apartment house, were given notices yesterday to vacate within 30 days.

Two sisters who won the structure, Mrs. Martha French of Holton, Kan., and Mrs. E. McGrath of Minneapolis, Minn., decided to close Tuesday after a meeting with Fire Chief Robert Schroeder.

Schroeder advised the owners Aug. 5 by letter that certain physical changes would have to be made if the structure, built in 1856, were to remain in use as an apartment building.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Howard W. Reid of Kansas City, a former mental patient shot by sheriff's deputies Aug. 30 when they were trying to seize him as the assailant of a farm woman, died at St. Mary's Hospital today of the wound.

Labor Day Record Changes Governor's Thinking on New Law

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A good Labor Day traffic safety record has caused Gov. James T. Blair to think Missouri's new speed law may be a good thing after all.

The governor said he was dubious about the new law originally but signed it as "a step in the right direction."

Thursday, in letters to Colonel Hugh Waggoner, Highway Patrol superintendent, and state department heads, Blair said it was apparent the new law played a part in cutting Missouri's Labor Day death toll from 27 last year to six this year.

He urged rigid enforcement to bring "an even greater reduction of deaths on our highways and a new era in 'traffic safety in our state.'"

Farmers Urged To Report Data On Production

Pettis County farmers who wish to take part in the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program were urged to bring information on their farm's past production history to the county ASC office soon.

C. A. Staples, chairman of the Pettis County ASC committee, said that each farmer is responsible for furnishing the information needed to establish the farm's Soil Bank base, which is a new feature of the 1958 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve program. There is a base provision already in operation under the Conservation Reserve program.

The county ASC committee will establish each farmer's Soil Bank base on the basis of the average number of acres the farmer had planted in crops for harvest during 1956 and 1957, except certain hay crops. This Soil Bank base must be established before the farmer can sign his 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve agreement.

Staples said that where a farm already has a "base" established under the Conservation Reserve program, that base will apply.

The sign-up for the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program began Aug. 26 and will close Oct. 4.

In Pettis County, the per-acre rates of payment on land in the winter wheat Acreage Reserve will vary from the average county rate of $31 per acre, according to the relative productivity of the land. Farmers who took part in the 1957 Acreage Reserve program and put the same land into the Reserve in 1958 will get a 10 percent premium above their 1958 compensation rates.

Limit Is Set On Soil Bank Pay Per Farm

Word has just been received from Washington that Soil Bank Acreage Reserve payments in 1958 will be limited to $3000 per producer for each farm, according to Joe A. Grant, administrative officer of the Missouri State ASC.

This ruling means that no producer can be paid more than $300 per farm for all cropland eligible for the 1958 Acreage Reserve. For land put into the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve, the top annual payment allowed is $5000. Grant said.

Last year there was no limitation on the amount of land a farmer could sign up under Acreage Reserve contracts, and a few payments in Missouri amounted to more than $10,000 per farm.

The Acreage Reserve is designed to take crop land which is usually devoted to basic crops out of production in order to cut down on the surpluses which have lowered farm incomes.

Any farmer who has an "old farm" allotment for one or more of the basic crops—corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, or rice—can put his allotment acreage into the Acreage Reserve for one year and receive payment about equal to the net income he would have made by producing a crop on that land. These payments vary by counties and individual farms according to the type of cropland enrolled.

In general, a producer can put his entire allotment acreage into the Acreage Reserve, as long as the payment on all commodities does not total more than $3000.

The whole thing is the realization of an inscrutable dream of a writer named Charles Schreiber and his wife, Joanne. Actually, all they wanted was a model of a junk. But in one of those silly little misunderstandings that come up every day, they ended up with the real thing.

"We're very pleased with it," Schreiber said, stepping over several small boys who had come to see "Look at that craftsmanship!"

The entire hull is made of teak—a wood so hard that it was once used in battleships. Between stem and stern are seven water-tight compartments. There is no bright work to polish or varnish. The wood needs only an annual oiling.

For the most part, the Schreibers are the Transient Boat Co. Their boatworks are located in Hong Kong where the Seadragons are built according to plans about 20 centuries old. Finished craft are shipped here on freighters.

The retail price of the junk is $4,500, and while 40 percent is the junk deal's profit, the cost is still below American prices. An American-built boat of the same dimensions, work and material would run about $8,000—without being able to boast the bamboo-and-canvas awnings which protect both cabin and afterdeck.

"This is no curiosity," Schreiber said. "This is a real boat. Good for the family. Roomy. Comfortable. Durable. It should sell."

And with the nation's pleasure boating market well over the $1.4 billion mark last year, the Transient Boat Co. figures:

"Americans are ready for a foreign sports car on the high seas."

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—Will men ever be equal to women?

That is the greatest sex drama in America during the 20th century.

Male optimists see many signs to indicate that man's long struggle for equal rights will have a hopeful outcome.

Slowly and artfully men have lured women into the pursuit of manly prerogatives while they themselves have steadily infiltrated in the opposite direction and begun to share in privileges formerly enjoyed only by women.

As a result the superficial differences between the sexes has narrowed to a point where a psychologist observed this week:

"A new cultural pattern is emerging in which hardly any activity or attitude is 'exclusively masculine' or 'exclusively feminine' anymore."

Each sex is trading the other sex its own particular pleasures and duties.

Today's wife can talk baseball and politics, likes to fish, wears to go on a safari to Africa, hates to sew on buttons. But so does today's husband.

"Doesn't all this prove that men are at last equal to women?" asks the boyish optimist.

No, indeed.

Man has always enjoyed more muscle, brains, charm and character than woman. But woman has an inner resource that has always carried her to the top in the past and probably always will.

Some call this resource woman's "sixth sense." It isn't actually a sense at all, and doesn't really make sense.

Woman's natural superiority consists only in this: The blind laws of chance bear inexorably down on man but chivalrously spare her. Woman is born lucky. Man isn't. That's all there is to it.

Fifty men and one woman, all desperately anxious to get to the railroad station to catch a train, will step into a crowded street on a snowy day. One cab will loom out of the flying flakes, and the woman will get it—by pure chance not through the gallantry of the cab driver. She will catch her train. The fifty men will miss theirs.

A man can go to a race track and wildly place his bets on the colors the jockeys are wearing and he will lose his shirt. A woman who does this will come home with enough of the track's money to buy a new outfit.

If right now you walked into a dime store and said, "give me a pomegranate," you'd be tossed out.

Writer Turns Junkman--- And the Junk's a Yacht

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Now that all the little jokes have been made, the Transient Boat Co. is ready to do business with anybody who wants to buy a Chinese junk.

For the uninformed, the junk—or sampan—is a cross between a sailboat and a front porch. This particular "Seadragon" class is 25 feet long, seven feet across the beam and has more living and storage space than most New York apartments.

The whole thing is the realization of an inscrutable dream of a writer named Charles Schreiber and his wife, Joanne. Actually, all they wanted was a model of a junk. But in one of those silly little misunderstandings that come up every day, they ended up with the real thing.

out of the place as crazy. But if a woman, on a sudden impulse, did the same thing, she'd find out that for the first time in history the dime store was selling pomegranates six for a quarter.

Men equal to women? never, never never—so long as the turning earth is ruled by blind chance, woman's secret weapon, instead of reason, man's broken sword.

Shooting Brings Arrests, Break Of Drug Ring

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The shooting of an undercover narcotics agent yesterday prematurely touched off mass arrests and the cracking of a drug ring here, federal men said today.

David McNealy Jr., downed in a night club by three gunshots fired by a convicted narcotics peddler, was one of several agents for whom several months had been gathering evidence to smash the ring.

After William Hughes, 31, shot McNealy, 25, federal agents and the St. Louis police narcotics squad started making arrests of dope users, pushers and others suspected of dealing in the drug traffic. More than 70 persons have since been arrested.

Hughes, a Negro, was sentenced in 1950 to four years in a federal penitentiary on a drug count. He has been charged with assault with intent to kill with malice.

Building of 4 Missile Launching Sites Will Begin After Jan. 1

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Construction of four missile launching sites in the St. Louis area, each to be manned by about 100 men, will begin shortly after Jan. 1, it was announced today.

Col. Leslie J. Straub of Kansas City, commanding officer of a 19-state region of the Army Air Defense Command, who made the announcement, estimated the construction will be finished in a year to 18 months.

The sites are near Catawissa, Mo., near the Jefferson-Franklin County line; in Pere Marquette State Park near Grafton, Ill.; north of Edwardsville; and South-east of Hecker, Ill.

There has been no opposition from people living near the areas chosen for the sites Col. Straub said.

The installations will be suitable for two types of Nike missiles, one of them carrying a nuclear warhead. Both types are capable of destroying any known aircraft or air-supported missile, Straub said.

Don Grant Is Speaker At Lions Club

The Sedalia Lions Club had its speaker Wednesday noon Don Grant, personnel director for the Town and Country Shoe Co. The speaker discussed personnel problems, women employees and his experiences as a personnel director.

Grant stressed on the problems of Sedalia. He explained women have far better opportunities for employment in Sedalia at the present time than men.

"Sedalia needs more heavy industry. Needs an industry which needs men employment," Grant said. He gave as an example the modern changes in railroading and as a result the cutting of some craftsmen from the rolls and as a result, their talents and training over the years are lost. "Their talents could easily be applied to other industry," he said.

Often, and it has happened here, a craftsman is separate from his job. His roots are in Sedalia, his home, his friends, but there is no other offering for him in employment. Hence, he must leave the community in which he has spent so many years and where he could be of far more value to his employer, his community and himself," Grant told the group.

The speaker was introduced by Don King, program chairman.

President A. B. Warren announced plans for the 20th anniversary meeting in February are underway, the Ladies' Nigh. program for Oct. 23 is being completed and other activities of the club are in the making.

It was brought out the lack of attendance at the noonday meetings is such that action must be taken within the near future to ascertain the reason for absent members.

The 18 towns having community leaders present were: Marshall, Jonesburg, Jefferson City, Columbia, Centralia, Ashland, Slater, Brunswick, Sturgeon, Bunceton, Vienna, Mexico, Sweet Springs, Fulton, Montgomery City, Chamois, Booneville, Moberly and Sedalia.

The day's activity started with a bus tour, taking the group of men and women from the 18 communities, through the courtesy of the Columbia Chamber of Commerce, to the new Columbia district 3½ miles northeast of the City of Columbia on the Wabash Railroad.

This district was made possible by the Industrial Corp., which was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and set up for the purpose of buying, developing and building buildings for industries.

The piping of city water the 3½ miles to the area cost $45,000. Plans are to bring into the area soon the high pressure gas line for natural gas from the Panhandle Eastern Gas Line Corp. feeder line going into the city of Columbia.

Already they have one industry established in the area. It is a local industry, Riback Inc., which is manufacturer of a steel fabricator. This industry found it had to expand and thus went to the new district.

The group was given a tour of the new plant and an explanation of its operation by the owner.

Then they were returned to the City of Columbia where they were taken to the new medical center. They were given a briefing in the auditorium of the operations, construction and present status of the hospital, future development and plans of the hospital. They were then divided into three groups and taken on an inspection tour of the facilities.

The group went to the Tiger Hotel for the start of the conference, which was presided over by J. M. Allton, Columbia. They were greeted by Harold O. Thorson, president of the Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

Allton opened the meeting and discussed the basic reason the meeting had been called and the desirability and possibility of forming the Mid-Missouri Development Council. He explained the ultimate purpose was for improving the general economy of the Mid-Missouri area.

The principal speaker was Richard M. Kinne, industrial director of the Missouri Division of Resources and Development, Jefferson City.

Kinne discussed the objectives of organizing such a council as is being considered and touched on the area resources and also the opportunity for cooperative effort. He pointed out that industry in general is experiencing a slowdown, which began in December, 1956, and stated that at the same time, in spite of economy measures by the federal government, federal spending continued to rise. The individual spending continues to rise, too, he said.

Generally throughout the United States, he said, retail sales were up the summer of 1956. He stated economists had shown slowdowns would continue in industry gradually for the next five years, then things will start to pick up again at a fantastic rate because, primarily, of the population growth.

In the slowdown era, Kinne said, all industry will be seeking to reduce cost of operation which in itself will make plant locations relative to major markets a primary factor. Also, he pointed out, economists predict by 1960 between 10 and 20 per cent of capital invested for new plants and production facilities will be for new products not presently manufactured. He went on to say as this industrial expansion takes place there will be many problems which must be solved on a regional basis, area basis and community basis. Ability to solve problems at that level will be the keys for the location of industrial plants in a given area. These problems, he said, are not solved by the federal government but by the community.

Kinne stated that in connection with industrial development over 6,000 organizations are listed in the United States in various types, with the primary purpose of establishing new industrial operations. These 6,000 are all competing for new industry.

Kinne gave reasons for the organized effort in the State of Missouri. First is to recognize and be able to understand changes in technology which requires new plants, equipment and technique. Second, the future will see tremendous need for great quantities of trained technicians to man these plants. Also that competition is so strong in matter of industrial location that great benefit can be derived by combining talents, and resources for a large number of communities and working closely to obtain industry and improve the general economy of the area.

Kinne also pointed out that generally the information available to industry from the Missouri Industrial and Resources Division is inadequate and incomplete. A Mid-Missouri Industrial Council could be instrumental in compiling, cataloging and making available the information and facts that industry requires. This means labor, resources, facilities, advantages of the towns and other things. Kinne stated he felt such a central development council could be instrumental in obtaining new training facilities and improvement of training facilities to provide the trained technicians needed in tomorrow's industry. This could be done at college level and public school level.

Such a council would also make possible cooperative advertising and publicity by pooling the financial resources of many communities involved which, in turn, would make possible greater benefits than would be available to one community attempting to do the same thing. It would also enable such a group to work up and publish an area brochure which would point out the advantages of Central Missouri area.

Kinne then threw the meeting open for discussion of ideas for such a council. The general opinion among community representatives present was that such a council should be formed and that the project should be undertaken immediately.

The group adjourned for dinner and reconvened later, for further discussion. As the result of this session, it was decided that by Oct. 1, all communities represented, plus representatives designated from those communities not attending, would be listed and names forwarded to the Columbia Chamber of Commerce. These would form the organization committee, whose job it would be to map the organization and set up and outline the projects and objectives for the presentation to a similar meeting of community representatives for their adoption.

This meeting will be held sometime in October in Jefferson City, J. M. Allton, Columbia. They were greeted by Harold O. Thorson, president of the Columbia Chamber of Commerce.
